

1,000 photos and counting!

Our photo booth has been traveling all around Seattle this summer. In July, we snapped our 1,000th photo of people imagining themselves on our future waterfront!

Thanks to everyone who visited our booth to learn about and contribute ideas for Waterfront Seattle. Haven't had a chance to stop by yet? Come see us! Our next event is the First Thursday Art Walk in Pioneer Square and you can find more events on our calendar page!

Free summer events hosted by Friends of Waterfront Seattle

Friends of Waterfront Seattle is here and we couldn't be more excited! Friends exists to collaborate, inspire, motivate, educate and raise money to complete the project and sustain it as a valued destination. Their purpose is to make sure the new waterfront will be fun for locals, visitors and future generations.

One of Friends' goals is to make accessible cultural programming a key part of the waterfront vision. They are celebrating the future waterfront today by offering free programs beginning in August, including concerts, theater, yoga and much more. To learn more about these free events, you can visit their website and sign up for their email list.

Don't miss these excellent outdoor outings:

Rebirth Brass Band at Olympic Sculpture Park

August 15 at 8:30 pm

Free! - Register today!

Sponsored by Friends of Waterfront Seattle; Presented by Seattle Art Museum

Romeo & Juliet at Olympic Sculpture Park

August 22 & 23 at 7 pm

August 24 at 2 pm

Free! - Register today!

Sponsored by Friends of Waterfront Seattle; Produced by Seattle Shakespeare Company

Presented by Seattle Art Museum

Questions or comments?

info@waterfrontseattle.org

206.499.8040

waterfrontseattle.org

Unsubscribe

Having trouble reading this email? Click here for a plain version.