NORIE SATO

Norie Sato is a Seattle-based artist selected for the Union Street project. Her work touches on many concepts, including memory and how it affects the view of the present and future, connections between the natural and the human, and ephemerality, light, and atmosphere.

The photos below are selected by Norie and represent the concepts she is considering at this initial stage. With the exception of the upper left image, all are from the Union Street site.
